9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.	PANEL: Rebuilding a Silk Road to Economic Development Investors from China recognize the importance of subnational policy in their decisions. Governors, their economic development leaders and trade representatives across the country seek new and innovative ways to attract and retain Chinese investment. NGA hopes to bring these stakeholders together to discuss what policies can be maintained and increase a sufficient level of Chinese investment.

9:45 a.m. to 11:45 a.m.	Silicon States: A Workshop on Benefiting from New Technologies *By invitation only *Closed to press Hosted by NGA Future and the World Economic Forum This workshop will be jointly hosted by NGA Future and the World Economic Forum's Centre for the 4th Industrial Revolution. It will be a mix of discussion and group facilitation focused on the intersection of public policy and emerging technology.
10:40 a.m. to 11:45 a.m.	PANEL: U.S. - China Economic Ties, Growth, Strategies and Investment Opportunities Partnerships with China are increasingly important to the economies and citizens of many states. These partnerships benefit both the companies investing in the state and to the state's citizens. In addition, the partnerships contribute to the economic development of both countries at the national level.
12:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.	Governors' Chief Operating Officers Lunch and Business Session *By invitation only *Closed to press The National Governors Association is hosting a business and lunch session for governors' chief operating officers (COOs) during the 2018 Summer Meeting. The purpose of this meeting is for COOs to network, share best practices and discuss the elements of the 2019 NGA management program for COOs.
12:00 p.m. to 1:30 p.m.	Around the World in 80 Plates *By invitation only *Closed to press While the challenges of reaching agreements through engagements often occupy the international stage, food can serve as a tool to cross cultural differences. This soft power leads to a new sort of cultural diplomacy that promotes the sharing of values, traditions and worldviews. NGA welcomes participants to come together for a lunch hosted by the Culinary Diplomacy Project. American chef Patrick Gharrity will create a meal that shares American culture and values with diplomats and governors from around the world.

to
3:15 p.m.

PANEL: Joining with Japan: Strengthening Partnerships from an Ocean Away

Japanese investment serves as a driving force in many states' economies. Governors must seek new ways to adapt local economies to the changing conditions of the global economy. Among these solutions, building on the U.S.-Japanese partnership can create more economic opportunities for the citizens of both countries.

NGA will bring stakeholders together to discuss two major topics: How does workforce development policy help investment promotion and attraction; and what is the future of investment and affiliated challenges for Japanese companies looking to expand in the states? The Japan External Trade Organization (JETRO) will lead a discussion with senior executives representing Japanese manufacturing companies and U.S. governors, under the auspices of the Government of Japan.

3:30 p.m.
to
5:00 p.m.

ROUNDTABLE: Leading Globally Matters Locally: How Global Engagement Advances U.S. Interests

*By invitation only
*Closed to press

In an increasingly globalized world, actions taken in other countries have a substantial impact on local economies. NGA recognizes the importance of these relationships and harnessing them to achieve the full benefit for all parties involved. Diplomacy that acknowledges this end creates trade and investment opportunities for states into countries such as Kenya.

In this roundtable, U.S. governors are invited to engage with area experts from the private and public sector, as well as Kenyan governors. They will join to discuss how strategic investments in international development and diplomacy and public-private partnerships advance our economic and security interests.

3:30 p.m.
to
5:00 p.m.

ROUNDTABLE: Building Bridges to the Future: State Leadership on Infrastructure Investment

*By invitation only
*Closed to press

Infrastructure investment is critical to states' economies, environments and living standards. Governors play a vital role in shaping policy to strengthen states' infrastructure systems. NGA hopes to open a dialogue between international investors and governors on how to solve the U.S. infrastructure deficit. Private sector leaders will share best practices in transportation, energy and water infrastructures, as well as their possible financing models. Governors will present better avenues into the states.

5:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.	VIP Reception *By invitation only Governors and their spouses are invited to finish off the day of international cooperation with a reception with the foreign delegations, sponsors, NGA partners and invited guests. Brief thank-you remarks will be given by the reception sponsor, Keidanren. Drinks and light hors d'oeuvres will be served.
